[From the Talladega, (Ala.,) Watch-Tower.] A Poem from the Spirit of Edgar

Mr. Epiron:—In my lecture on last Wednesday evening, I had occasion to read the following remarkable poem, originally spoken by Miss Doten, at the conclusion of one of her "so-called" trance lectures. It purports to come from the spirit of Edgar A. Poe. No believer in the doctrines of spiritualism, I can only regard it as a most exqui-HUMPHREYS & DANIEL. Attorneys at Law. CLARKSVILLE, TENN ualism, I can only regard it as a most exquisite specimen of poetical literature; possessing in an eminent degree all the essential elements of true poetry, which has been properly defined by Leigh Hunt as "the utterance of the passion for beauty and power, embodying and illustrating its conceptions by imagination and fancy, and modulating its language on the principle of variety and uniformity."

The copy in my possession was given me some months ago, in manuscript, by Colonel H——, a prominent spiritualist, living in Huntsville, Texas. By request of several of the redication of the Cemetary which has been set apart under the auspices of the ladies of that town and its vicinity for the Confederate dead, who fell in the lower Shenandoah Valley. In the distant city of Mexico, I read the account of the steps in angurated by the ladies of Winchester for collecting the remains and marking the graves of the brave men who lost their lives in defence of their country in and around the latter place, and it is impossible for me to give expression to the emotions of gratitude and admiration excited in my bosom on reading that account. I knew that many properties are appropriately and the complete of the ladies of that town and its vicinity for the Confederate dead, who fell in the lower Shenandoah Valley. From the throne of life eternal, From the home of love supernal, Where the angel feet make music over the starry floor,
Mortals, I have come to meet you,
Come with words of love to greet you,
And to tell you of the glory that is mine for

Once before I found a mortal, Waiting at the heavenly portalopening door;
And I seized his quickened being,
And through all his inward seeing,
Caused my burning aspiration in a fiery flood to pour!

Now I come more meekly human, And the weak lips of a woman Fouch with fire from off the altar! with burnings as of yore; But in holy love descending, With her chastened being blending, would fill your soul with music from the bright celestial shore. As one heart yearns for another, As a child turns to its mother-From the golden gates of glory, turn I to th earth once more; Where I drained the cup of sadness, Where my soul was stung to madness

And life's bitter, burning billows swept my burdened being o'er. HAVING served as officers in the U.S. Army, will have facilities to prosecute successfully all legitimate claims against the Here the harpies and the ravens, Human vampyres—sordid cravens, Preyed upon my soul and substance till writhed in anguish sore; Life and I then seemed mismated For I felt accursed and fated,

Like a restless, wrathful spirit, wandering on the Stygian shore. Tortured by a nameless yearning, Like a frost-fire—freezing, burning—
Did the purple, pulsing life tide through its fevered channels pour,
Till the golden bowl—life's token—

Into shining shreds was broken, And my chained and chafing spirit leapt from out my prison door. But while living, striving, dying-Never did my soul cease crying-Ye who guide the Fates and Furies! give, oh, give me, I implore,

From the countless constellations, One pure spirit that can love me-I too can adore!'

'Mid the surging seas she found me, With the billows breaking 'round me, and my saddened, sinking spirit in her arms of love upbore; Like a loved one weak and weary, Wandering in the midnight dreary, On her sinless, saintly bosom brought me the heavenly shore.

Like the breath of blossoms blending, Like the prayers of saints ascending, Like the rainbow's seven-hued glory blend our souls forevermore; Earthly love and lust enslaved me,

But Divinest love has saved me, CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE. And I know now first and only, how to love O, my mortal friends and brothers,

Some days since our Rome correspondent caposed the nefarious abuses resorted to by time: the Brownlowites to secure the election of their candidates in Smith county. The de-velopments in that case were startling, even when regarded as an isolated instance of political depravity. But we have good reason for believing that the programme, so successful in Smith, is to be pursued in other counties, when occasion arises.

To-day, an election for Representative ought to take place in Sumner county. Twill surprise our readers to learn that the number of voters in this populous county will not exceed 140! The election, therefore, can be no more than a farce on republican institutions. It may be profitable to know how affairs have been brought to this pass.
A Mr. T. McKinley was appointed Com-

BROWNLOW'S IRON WHEEL! THE COUNSEL AND WARNINGS OF WASHINGTON.

The people cannot too often recur to the wisdom of the " father of his country." The following is especially applicable at this time:

"This government, the offspring of your own choice, uninfluenced and unawed, adopted upon full investigation and mature deliberation, completely free in its principles, in its distribution of its powers, uniting security with energy, and containing within itself a provision for its own amendment, has a just claim to your confidence and support. Respect for its authority, compliance with its laws, acquiescence in its measures, are duties enjoined by the fundamental maxims of liberty. The basis of our political systems is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government; but the Constitutions of government; but the Constitution which at any time exists, till changed by an explicit act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all."

I understand animals better than any other class of human creatures. I have a very animal mind, and I've been identified with comman, more especially bears, wolves, leopards and serpunts.

The leopard is as lively a animal as I ever came into contack with. It is troe he cannot change his spots, but you can change 'em for lim with a paint-brush, as I once did in the case of a leopard who wasn't nat'rally spotted in an attractive manner. In exhibitin him I used to stir him up in his cage with a protracted pole, and for the purpuss of making the constitutions of government; but the Constitutions of government; but the Constitutions of government; like the purpus of making I used to stir him up in his cage with a protracted pole, and for the purpus of making I used to casionally whack him over the head. Brownlowism is a very changeable thing. In 1863, two years after the war broke out,

Rev. Mr. Brown, of this city, has been traveling in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky, for some weeks past, soliciting aid for the suffering poor of the South. He has met with great success, and deserves the gratitude of all good men. Already, up to the 23d of October, under his exertions, one steamboat and two car loads of supplies had been shipped South, besides $350 in money.

At the battle of Montmirial, Bonaparts turned abruptly to a young lieutenant who, by accident, was near him, and ordered him to take horse immediately and bear orders to a general commanding in another and distant part of the field. "Spare neither yourself nor horse," said the Emperor sternly, bear orders and two car loads of supplies had been shipped South, besides $350 in money.

Signs or a Hann Winter.-The phenomena which usually presage according to the notions of the very observant in such matters, the approach of a hard winter, are becoming very marked as the season progresses. Hives are overflowing with honey, the busks of corn are declared to be of extra thickness, and the fur of animals is pronounced exceedingly rich and heavy. It is observed, too, that the rats are traveling eastwardly in great numbers, and that the squirrels are making arrangements on increased scale for the store.
